

Two Hancock residents die in burning wreckage

Two dead

The Hancock County Sheriff's Office and the Mississippi Highway Patrol were among those investigating the tractor-trailer truck accident Monday morning on the Pearl River Bridge. The two men in the truck were killed when their truck overturned and burst into flames. Workers spent several hours clearing wreckage of the truck from the bridge. The truck was carrying scrap metal.

Two area men burned to death about 7 a.m. Monday when their 1965 Chevrolet tractor-trailer truck overturned and exploded into flames on the Pearl River Bridge near Pearlinton, but neither Mississippi nor Louisiana highway department officials are willing to accept jurisdiction in the accident.

Killed in the accident were Robert S. Smith, 67, of Bay St. Louis and Anthony Morreale, 25, of Waveland.

"I saw it (the truck) go up in flames out of my rear view mirror," said John McKeane of Pearlinton, an eye witness to the accident. "I rushed over to help and saw one man sitting on the gas tank and flames all around. I shouted to him, but then the tank exploded into flames." McKeane added that he believed the man was already dead. "He didn't budge in the least when I saw him," McKeane said.

The truck was hauling scrap metal at the time of the accident and blocked traffic on the bridge several hours.

The bodies were transported to Riemann Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, where Hancock County coroner Emile Piazza performed an inquest.

A question of whether the fatalities would be attributed to Louisiana's or Mississippi's fatalities was raised when neither state highway patrol department accepted jurisdiction in the matter.

Patrolman John Poulson of the Mississippi Highway Patrol was the first to arrive on the scene, and proceeded with the investigation until the Louisiana Highway Patrol Department arrived. According to George Saxon, inspector for District 8 of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, the mishap occurred on the west side of the bridge and therefore falls under the jurisdiction of Louisiana.

Lt. Donald Keating of Troop L of the Louisiana Highway Patrol said the truck was Louisiana-bound but had not yet reached the state border when the accident occurred, and therefore his department saw the matter as belonging to Mississippi.

Chamber manager reports resignation final

Efforts by Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce manager, to resign Tuesday night failed when chamber directors tabled her resignation. Board members said that they hoped Mrs. McComiskey would reconsider her resignation.

The resignation, effective April 30, was apparently triggered by the action of board member Nicholas Haas, who had reportedly discussed a position as executive director with an outside party.

"I just feel like I have made a fool of myself," said Mrs. McComiskey, "to have worked here trying to live within the budget you have given me, only to find out that some members have apparently decided we have the money to hire an executive director."

Haas told the board that the discussion about hiring an executive director was a misunderstanding. Haas said that he only wanted to hire someone at a small salary to aid Mrs. McComiskey in the office. He had no intention, he said, of hiring someone to replace her in the office.

After much discussion, Mrs. Anita Lamb moved to accept Mrs. McComiskey's resignation. Her motion was then seconded by Mrs. Nell Frisbie.

"If I thought there was any way I could persuade Mrs. McComiskey to change her mind I would," Mrs. Lamb said. "But I think she has made it clear she cannot be persuaded, so at her request, I think we ought to accept her resignation immediately."

Mrs. McComiskey said she did not intend to change her mind about resigning.

"The chamber is only hurting itself by postponing this," she said. "Now they will not have time to consider applications to replace me."

Chamber president Perry Gibson expressed regret at Mrs. McComiskey's action.

Mrs. McComiskey has served as secretary-manager to the Chamber two and one half years.

Firemen fight house fires

The Bay St. Louis fire department answered two consecutive fire calls Wednesday morning at 100 Dunbar Ave. and at the Ideal Trailer Park on Ruella St.

The first fire occurred at the home of Mrs. Carrie Lane, 100 Dunbar Ave., when electrical wires under the foundation of the house started causing major damage to the electrical wiring system, but no damage to the home itself. The fire was reported by Mrs. Lane at 11 a.m.

Firemen were then called to a fire which erupted at 11:35 a.m. in a trailer owned by Mrs. Grace Hennessey at the Ideal Trailer Park on Ruella Street.

Firemen said the blaze apparently began in a skillet containing grease which had been left on the stove.

Fire Chief Richard Fayard said that the trailer was a total loss even though firemen had the blaze under control in a matter of minutes.

Small cities lose in big city program

By DAVID PIERSON AND ANITA DINWIDDIE
Several local communities including Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian and Long Beach have been disappointed recently by the rejection of applications for federal funds under the Community Development Act of 1974.

The federal program, which was designed as a replacement for various categorical grants under the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), was seen as a kind of panacea for the smaller urban areas, a way to obtain federal funds and solve local problems without the red tape involved with most federal grants.

The communities were told by officials of HUD in Jackson that they might receive as much as $226,000 in the community development funds. The cities were supposedly in competition with each other for the available funds which would be given, the HUD officials said, to the communities showing the greatest need for the money. None of the communities applying for the funds, however, will receive any money under the program.

Jerry Perkins, HUD program director in Jackson said recently that the reason none of the communities will receive federal funding is that "the funds were made unavailable in Washington." Perkins said that an inordinate number of communities had been authorized automatic funding and this used up all the funds that were available for other SMSA cities, such as Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis.

Gulfport and Biloxi are among the SMSA cities that will be automatically funded with Biloxi receiving $11 million and Gulfport seven million dollars in federal money over the next three years.

Several local officials have objected to the program's management, most notably Pass Christian Mayor, Steve Saucier who has appealed to both Senators James Eastland and John Stennis and to U.S. Representative Trent Lott. Saucier has called the Community Development Act "a big city program" and has pointed to the disproportionate amount of money being spent on cities such as Gulfport when other cities such as Long Beach and Pass Christian receive nothing.

When asked if he considered the Community Development Act of 1974 a big-city program, Jerry Perkins answered, "I guess you could construe it to be that way, but the fact that Mississippi got between $9 and $9.5 million for non-SMSA cities shows that the program is for smaller urban areas, at least in the case of Mississippi."

Perkins said, however, that SMSA cities such as Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis will receive none of the $9.5 million set aside for the non-SMSA cities.

The cities had applied for varying amounts of money under the program; Pass Christian, $480,000; Long Beach, $280,000; Bay St. Louis, $250,000; and

Local engineers begin 201 feasibility study

"For once I think Hancock county is going to be ahead of all of the rest of the state on something. We're ahead of Gulfport and Biloxi on this one, and even New Orleans," said Waveland Mayor John Longo about the regional 201 study of waste removal and treatment granted to Hancock county by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Hancock County have begun a feasibility study of a unified waste collection and treatment facility with $114,360 in federal EPA funds. Waveland, as lead applicant for the funds, received the check March 20, but engineers from both municipalities and the county will conduct the study.

"This is a whole new total concept of environmental protection," Longo said. "Depending on the results of this feasibility study, this could be the most advanced environmental treatment facility not just in Mississippi, but in the whole south. New Orleans doesn't even have this kind of facility."

The study, which should be completed sometime this year, Longo said, will collect data on the collection, storage, treatment and disposal of waste from all of southern Hancock County in one unified plant. The engineers who are conducting the study are Eaton and Lewis for Waveland, Burk and Associates for Bay St. Louis, and Delaurel Engineers for Hancock County.

"It just makes economic sense that one unified treatment facility will be better than several scattered ones," the Waveland mayor said. "The study will decide if it is possible for all of the communities to tie in together. It might be possible to get the whole county in one system."

The grant for the study is only the first step in the process of establishing the plant. If the study shows that the plant is possible, Longo said, further applications will be made for construction grants on the project.

At present no local funds have been required for the study. EPA is funding 75 percent of the project, the Pearl River Basin Development District is funding 12.5 percent, and the remaining 12.5 percent will be funded by a state interest free loan.

"This couldn't be less than a multi-million dollar project," Longo said. "And we hope that we will continue to get federal help on it. I think that further grants will be approved since we have gone this far on the project. Other cities who haven't started yet may have a hard time getting any money."

Waveland is presently in the process of constructing a $2 million collection and treatment plant. The plant should be in operation by July or August of this year, Longo said, and will provide secondary treatment. When completed, the plant should be equipped to handle both communities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and can be converted into a tertiary treatment plant in the future to comply with future EPA rulings. Longo said that there is a possibility that the new Waveland plant could be expanded into the type of unified treatment facility envisioned by the 201 study.

One snag in the unification idea is disagreement between the two communities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The new Waveland facility which was designed for both communities may serve only Waveland

New census needed business leaders say

Hancock supervisors Monday voted unanimously to initiate attempts to have a new official census of Hancock County performed immediately.

The supervisors' action came after a short appeal by Hancock County businessman Delmar Wilcox citing the need for an updated census.

"We have been confronted with a real problem in the last few years," Wilcox said. "Right after Hurricane Camille they (the federal government) came in here and conducted the 1970 census and gave us a population of 17,000."

"The figure is considerably lower than our real population," Wilcox added, "and is hurting our economy in attracting new industry."

Wilcox said retail sales figures collected for the county in 1974 indicate the population is closer to 37,000.

Wilcox, a joint venture in the Our Shopping Center development in Waveland, said that the low census figures had posed a real problem in attracting national clients to locate in the shopping area.

"Both Pass Christian and Biloxi," he added, "have conducted their own censuses recently because of the outdated and misleading 1970 census figures taken in the aftermath of Camille."

"Whatever we do though," he added, "we want it to be official so that we can use the figures in our promotion of this county."

Several suggestions were offered by supervisors. Beat Five Supervisor James Travira said that the board should investigate the possibility of having one of the three regional planning commissions undertake the census.

"I agree with you on the need for a census," said Beat One Supervisor Jerry Ladner. "I think we lost some community development funds because of the low population figures."

because Bay St. Louis officials have decided not to tie into the plant at the present time.

Lone bandit robs Long Beach store

LONG BEACH - A young white male held up the Cleveland Avenue Majik Mart in Long Beach Tuesday night, making off with approximately $600 in cash and money orders, police said.

Police are reportedly investigating information that the suspect did not work alone.

Police said the suspect, in his early 30's, entered the store about 7:30 p.m. with his hand in his pocket and demanded that night clerk, Mrs. Hazel Lassabe, give him the money in the cash register. The clerk said she could not be certain whether the suspect had a gun in his pocket or not.

Mrs. Lassabe said she gave the robber everything she had in her cash drawer at the time, approximately $300 in cash and another $300 in money orders, and then got down on the floor face down at the demand of the bandit.

Mrs. Lassabe said that the suspect had entered the store earlier and asked if she could issue money orders. He left without purchasing any however, but returned later to hold up the store.

Mrs. Lassabe said she lay on the floor for approximately 15 minutes before getting up to call police. The suspect, she said, was driving a white station wagon both times he came into the store and that she noticed a woman waiting in this car the first time.

Police said another witness reported seeing an auto of the same description with no license parked near the store at the time of the robbery.

DA Necaise addresses Citizen's Crime Conference

Harrison County District Attorney Albert Necaise was featured speaker last week at a conference on crime sponsored by the Mississippi Criminal Justice Standards Commission.

The Citizens' Crime Conference, held April 2, presented a six member panel in the field of crime prevention consisting of Bill Grissett, Executive Director Mississippi Division of Law Enforcement Assistance; Robert Alsberry, Project Coordinator of the Mississippi Criminal Justice Standards Commission; 16th Circuit Court District Attorney Harvey Buck; Golden Triangle Narcotic Unit Commander George Graves; Lowndes County Sheriff Tom Glover and Detective Lieutenant William Glover of Columbus.

"We must have a yardstick by which to measure the efficiency of our operations within the criminal justice system," said Necaise. "This yardstick will be the standards established by the Criminal Justice Standards Commission. We need input from you, the citizens of Mississippi. That is why we are coming to you in an effort to obtain your feelings and opinions about law enforcement, the judicial process and the corrections system in Mississippi."

The function of the Mississippi Criminal Justice Standards Commission is to formulate standards to be implemented for the entire criminal justice system in Mississippi, he said.

"The public is going to have to live under the standards, so now is your chance to make them," he said. "If you don't like what we come out with, don't complain - you've had your chance."

There will be other Citizen's Crime Conferences held throughout the State, including one here on the Gulf Coast in the near future.

IRS explains rebate process

JACKSON, Mississippi—The first of 78 million tax rebate checks will be mailed May 9, William Daniel, IRS District Director for Mississippi, said today. The bulk of the mailings should be completed by the end of June.

Daniel said taxpayers who filed returns the earliest will receive rebate checks first. The payments stem from enactment of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 which provides for a rebate on 1974 taxes of between $100 and $200 for most taxpayers.

The IRS will automatically compute all rebates. Any rebate adjustment made by the taxpayer on a return will only serve to delay processing and issuance of the rebate, Daniel said. Such adjustments could also delay any refund due.

Approximately 67 million taxpayers will receive checks reflecting the rebate only. These include taxpayers who have already received their refunds for 1974 or whose refunds are already in process at IRS.

The other 11 million taxpayers will receive checks combining their refund with the rebate. These checks will show how much is refund and how much is rebate.

Under the new legislation the maximum rebate is 10 percent of the tax liability up to a maximum rebate of $200, reduced by one percent of adjusted gross income in excess of $20,000, up to $30,000. Taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of $30,000 will receive a rebate of $100, Daniel said. Those who had a tax liability of less than $100 will receive a rebate equal to the tax liability.

Daniel pointed out that married persons filing separate returns will not get a larger rebate than those filing jointly since, under the law, the maximum rebate for a married person filing separately is $100.

Bay St. Louis first to repay Camille loans

Bay St. Louis has become the first Mississippi Gulf Coast city to repay principal on state loans for restoration following Hurricane Camille in 1969. The Bay St. Louis city council voted Tuesday to repay all of one state loan totalling $267,022 and make a partial payment on a second state loan leaving a total indebtedness of $123,249.

"It has gotten to the point where it is better to repay the loan than to keep the money in the bank," said Commissioner Lucien Kidd. "The loan interest rates are getting higher, but the interest we are being paid on the money is not. We're losing money right now, so we decided that we better pay it back as soon as possible."

Most of the money that city fathers received after Camille was placed in savings accounts to draw interest, said city auditor Robert Bienvenu. Tuesday the council decided to pay back the first loan in full using money from the second loan and to use available funds to pay back as much as possible on the second. Bienvenu said that payment would be made before the next interest payment on the loan became due in August.

"We are still hoping that the legislature will forgive the coast cities for the money that was spent after Camille, and if they do we wouldn't have to pay that $123,000," said Kidd. "But we can't expect them to forgive the money that we never spent, so we might as well give it back, because we are losing money this way."

The city council also allocated $324 to the fire department for the purchase of new helmets and gloves. Three hundred dollars was allocated from revenue sharing funds for the Bay Scouts.

Ford signs military registration changes

President Ford approved Proclamation 4360 to the Military Selective Service Act April 1 which changes the method of registering for the military.

Byron V. Pepitone, Director of Selective Service, said, "Planning is underway for a new registration procedure. The requirement to register is still in full force and effect, and only the method of registration will be changed."

The National Director explained that planning centered around a once-a-year registration period of a few days in which young men born in a given year will be required to present themselves for registration.

"When it is determined what method of registration will be utilized, the public announcement of procedures will be made by proclamation as prescribed in the Military Selective Service Act. The public announcement of these new registration procedures will probably be made toward the end of 1975," he said.

Pepitone stressed that the change in registration procedures is a part of the ongoing studies to reduce the cost of maintaining a Selective Service System in support of the all-volunteer military establishment.

"Our present system of continuous registration has been highly successful," he said. "In fact, during calendar year 1974 Selective Service continued to register more men than the number established by the Bureau of the Census for the current year-of-birth group."

Governor calls '75 banner education year in state

Governor Bill Waller said last week that the multi-million pay increase and other school improvement bills have made 1975 a "banner year" for education in Mississippi.

He said that State support for public education has increased 64 per cent during the last four years, including a 48 per cent increase in teachers' salaries.

Paul Fugate, Executive Secretary of the Mississippi Marketing Council, said Monday that a recent U. S. trade agreement with Iran "should substantially improve prospects for the Mississippi trade mission to the Middle East."

Fugate noted that the agreement will total some $15 billion in non-oil trade between the United States and Iran over the next five years.

Strom Thurmond

Featured On ETV

The highlights of the career of South Carolina's colorful senior senator Strom Thurmond are the subject on a half-hour ETV "Profile" at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 15, over the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

"Profile: Strom Thurmond" can be seen over channels 19, Biloxi; 12, Booneville; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 29, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 2, Mississippi State; and 18, Oxford-University.

Reflecting on his early years and his childhood, growing up on a farm, Thurmond says that politics and physical fitness have been lifelong interests. He remembers deciding in his youth that he would some day be governor of South Carolina and that he would have to learn the art of public speaking.

It was during his early career also that the Senator developed a belief in the importance of education ("my number one priority in Congress"). Thurmond was elected governor of South Carolina in 1946 and achieved national fame in 1948 when he ran for President on the State Rights Ticket, receiving more votes than any third-party candidate in history.

Running for the U. S. Senate in 1954, he became the first successful write-in candidate for that office in history. In 1964, he resigned as a Democratic Senator and ran successfully as a Republican. The program will feature a personal view of the Senator as a family man with wife Nancy and their three children at her parents' home in Aiken, S. C.

Project Director of the mission, said that projects to be carried out under the trade agreement include 20 prefabricated housing factories, 100,000 apartments, the building of a major port, joint ventures to produce fertilizer, pesticides, farm machinery and processed foods, "as well as many other products and services represented by members of our mission."

Governor Waller, Fugate, and 12 Mississippi businessmen and agriculturists departed on the mission headed for Kuwait, Iran, Saudi Arabia and Iraq Wednesday.

Governor Waller said last week that the Wildlife Heritage Bill, authorizing the purchase of over 40,000 acres of wilderness land in Jackson and George Counties, "is the greatest piece of conservation legislation in our State's history."

"The purchase of this land will ensure that future generations will be able to enjoy the beautiful outdoor life that too many of us now take for granted," he said.

Charles McKellar, Governor Waller's Press Secretary, announced his resignation last week to enter private business. McKellar, who is head of the overall press and public relations efforts of the Waller administration since 1972, said he would enter the private practice of advertising and public relations in association with a Jackson advertising firm effective May 1.

Governor Waller said that McKellar will be replaced by Wayne Edwards, a former news director at Mississippi Radio News network. Edwards, a graduate of Millsaps College, has served as McKellar's assistant for the past two years.

Winners of the color and black-and-white photo divisions of the "Mississippi is Photogenic" contest are now on display at the Old Capitol Museum in Jackson.

The contest was sponsored by the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board in an effort to stimulate awareness of the beauty of the outdoors in Mississippi.

An A&I Board spokesman said that photos on exhibit include works of Gertrude Hamilton of Jackson; Bob Lord of Greenville; Dr. J. Lee Owen of Jackson; Philip Adkinson of Moss Point; and Charles Fant of Jackson. The display will also include the work of Harris H. Barnes of Columbia, South Carolina; Chris Rebmann of Jackson; Allan Lessem of Vicksburg; and Kent Moorhead of Oxford.

Governor Waller said last week "that chances are favorable that the Yellow Creek area of Northeast Mississippi will be chosen as the site for a new Tennessee Valley Authority nuclear power plant."

The Governor's statement came shortly after TVA announced that four nuclear power systems would be constructed in the TVA area.

Waller said the facility would mean an investment of some $1.9 billion and would require some 3,300 employees for construction.

Contractor charges architect's slight out of order, damaged reputation

A local contractor, John R. Hayward of Waveland asked the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to bar architect Fred Wagner from further work with the county Monday because of a statement made earlier by Wagner at a board meeting. The board entered Hayward's complaint into the minutes, but declined to take any further action in the matter.

Hayward's complaint referred to a statement by Wagner that he would withdraw as architect from the county's Health Center project if a bid from Hayward was accepted. At that time the board refused Wagner's request not to open Hayward's bid.

The contract, however, was awarded to Gregory Construction, Gulfport, who submitted a lower bid of $26,262.

"I am not blaming the board for what happened," Hayward said, "but I feel that I should have had the right to defend myself before this board, just as he charged me before this board. I pay taxes to Hancock county, and I don't think my taxes should go to pay someone who is allowed to make charges against me and hurt my business."

Board chairman Dolph Kellar said that the board could not bar anyone from submitting bids for county work, and emphasized that Wagner's remarks had been no cause for any discrimination against Hayward for the remodeling contract.

"I can promise you that if you had been the low bidder, you would have gotten the job no matter what Mr. Wagner said," Kellar said. "But we can't bar Mr. Wagner from a job any more than we could bar you."

The board also heard a complaint from County Forester Mike Williams who brought charges of timber violations on sixteenth section land before the board for the third time. On each previous occasion the board directed Williams to initiate proceedings against the violators with the Hancock County school board.

Williams told the board Monday that a 1974 state law gave supervisors the control over leases and the right to cancel leases when violations occur.

"It is the responsibility of this board to cancel these leases when violations occur," Williams said, "and it is my responsibility to report to this board, not the school board."

Kellar stated the board should hold public hearings with alleged violators before taking action on cancelling the leases.

In other business the board approved an easement for the U. S. Corps of Engineers to do dredging at Bayou Caddy Marina. Wilson Webre, Hancock County Port and Harbor director, said the county may have to pay for the construction of dikes for the project.

The board also approved a permanent easement from Coastal Millwork and Supply former Port Bienville occupants as payment for a debt owed to the county. The easement will be used for an extension of the railroad spur through the property, Webre said.

Supervisors accepted a bid of $3,822.97 from Turan-Lane Motors for a 1975 automobile for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. The board took under advisement other bids from buyers for a motor grader, chassis, diesel tractor, tandem tractor truck, payload and dump truck.

MEC holds three issue meeting

The Mississippi Economic Council will discuss energy, the economy and elections at its annual meeting today at the Mississippi Trade Mart in Jackson.

A team of state and nationally recognized authorities on economics and energy has been scheduled to discuss these issues, and potential challenges for the governor's seat in this year's election will be on hand for a face-to-face discussion and debate.

"We have attempted to package into one large meeting a concentrated look at the key issues facing the citizens of Mississippi today," said MEC Annual Meeting Committee chairman Robert Wingate of Greenwood.

Featured in the energy segment of the program will be an address by the nation's energy czar Frank G. Zarb, administrator of the Federal Energy Administration (FEA).

Zarb, the chief energy advisor to President Ford, will address the luncheon session of the meeting and will field questions from the floor. Since his nomination and confirmation as FEA administrator in December, Zarb has been the nation's chief energy policy formulator.

The economics portion of the program will feature a panel discussion on economics by state and nationally known experts on government, energy, food and agribusiness.

On the mid-morning economics panel will be Washington-based federal government consultant W. Eugene Ainsworth; Leslie Lampton, president of Ergon, Inc., in Jackson; Morris Lewis, Jr., of Indianapolis, chairman of the board of Super Valu Stores, Inc.; and J. Kelley Williams, president of First Mississippi Corporation. John O. Emmerich, Jr., editor and publisher of the Greenwood COMMERCIAL, will moderate the economics discussion.

Completing the Annual Meeting will be a discussion on the 1975 gubernatorial election by leading candidates.

The political discussion will feature a meet-the-press type forum with three Mississippi journalists questioning six leading gubernatorial candidates. Candidates slated to appear are Gil Carmichael of Meridian, Maurice Dantin of Columbia, Cliff Finch of Batesville, Talmadge Littlejohn of New Albany, Senator Theodore Smith of Corinth, and Lt. Gov. William Winter.

On the panel of questioners will be Bert Case, news director for WLBT television in Jackson; Charles Dunagin, managing editor of the McComb ENTERPRISE-JOURNAL; and Paul Pittman, editor and publisher of the TYLER TOWN TIMES.

Moderating the political discussion will be MEC Vice President-elect Dewey Lane, a Pascagoula surgeon.

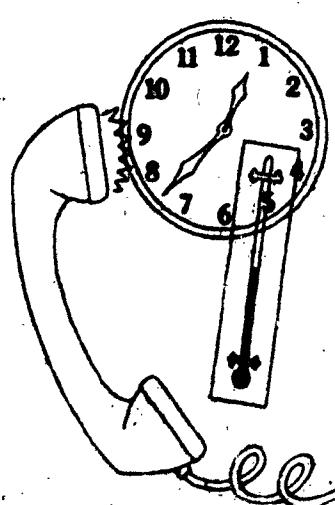

Other features of MEC's Annual Meeting include recognition of the state's winners of the STAR (Student Teacher Achievement Recognition) competition and presentation of scholarships.

Hostilities resume at county school board meeting

Old hostilities between Hancock County school board members and Superintendent of Education K. G. McCarty were rekindled at Tuesday's meeting when board member Tommy Shaw brought up the issue of a board directive to McCarty that had not been carried out.

Shaw reintroduced a motion that the board had passed in February to authorize a school bus to alter its route to pick up the four children of J. B. Ladner, ages six to 12. The board had unanimously passed the motion when it was first introduced, but Superintendent McCarty refused to carry it out because he said it is illegal for a bus to travel less than one mile off a paved road to pick up children. The board again authorized the route change at Tuesday's meeting.

"You can't direct me to do anything illegal," McCarty said. "You can pass this motion if you want to, but I am not going to send that bus in to pick up those children."

Other board members maintained that the action was legal and referred to an opinion by board attorney Joseph Gex who earlier said that the change in the bus route was within the board's power when the motion was first made in February.

"At that time I told the board that the action was legal as long as the board did not claim those children on its Average Daily Attendance (ADA) reimbursements from the state," Gex said.

The issue of McCarty's failure to follow the school bus directive spurred another discussion among board members after the meeting's adjournment of McCarty's failure to return a driver's education car to Turan-Lane Motors that McCarty has admitted using for personal business. McCarty has still not returned the car which is provided by General Motors for driver education use at Hancock North Central High School.

Several projects initiated by the board in February and early March have been delayed because of a suit filed by 12 Hancock County citizens against the board. The suit challenges the right of the four present board members to hold office because of a violation of the 1965 Voting Rights Act in the election law under which all four were elected.

The suit is a duplicate of one filed against a fifth board member, Oris Ladner, which was scheduled for hearing in federal district court in Biloxi Wednesday.

Despite pending suits the board had to take emergency action Tuesday on one of the delayed projects. Principal James Baldwin reported repairs to the sewerage system at Charles B. Murphy School was urgent because the present system requires daily maintenance.

The board authorized Baldwin to hire a plumber to make repairs to the chlorine injector system immediately, part of a complete repair program for the school.

In other business the board authorized $220 to send seven students from Gulfview School to the Special Education Junior Olympics in Jackson May 10. The seven students were first place winners in the coast special olympics which qualified them for the state contest.

McComiskey, Gibson release statements on resignation

Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, who tendered her resignation as manager of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce to the board of directors Tuesday, said Wednesday she was leaving the chamber because she had no desire to work in an understaffed office while board members considered hiring an outside party as Executive Director over her.

"I do not intend to be a babysitter for the Chamber of Commerce until they can find a man to come in and take over the job that I have prepared for him," said Mrs. McComiskey.

The following letter of resignation was submitted to the board of directors at the special meeting Tuesday.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

For more than three years, I have worked for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; over two and one-half of those years in the capacity of Manager of the Chamber.

These have been eventful and fulfilling years in which I have seen much activity and many accomplishments for the betterment of Hancock County come from within the Chamber.

I have taken a great deal of pride in my work and feel that I have given my all toward any and all projects set before me. The tremendous help and support I have received from the various Boards of Directors I have worked with has certainly been appreciated.

I have worked under four Presidents during this time, some of whom have put forth excellent programs and energy during their tenures in office. At present, I have the privilege of working with one of the finest and most dedicated President's this Chamber has probably ever had, Mr. Perry F. Gibson, Manager of Mississippi Power Company - Bay St. Louis. Mr. Gibson has set forth a very ambitious "Program of Work" for this year that the entire business community can benefit from and be proud of their Chamber of Commerce for envisioning.

I regret that I will not be able to see this "Program of Work" through but, after much thought and consideration, I find that I can no longer serve the Chamber in the capacity of Manager.

The statistical information compiled within the last two and one-half years for industrial and residential prospects, are second to none in a Chamber of Commerce of our size. It is there for the asking.

Therefore, I feel that my successor, with an excellent President and a Board of Directors to assist and back him up, should have no problem making a smooth transition and the day to day work can continue as usual. I will stay through the end of April, which will give the Board time to consider applications and be selective in hiring my replacement. Feeling that I am giving ample notice of my resignation, effective April 30, 1975, I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of the business people, the City of Bay St. Louis, the City of Waveland, and Hancock County officials, who have made my position as Manager of the Chamber of Commerce a warm and pleasant experience that I will never forget.

We have a fine County and the Chamber of Commerce is a vital and important vehicle for its growth and prosperity.

Yours very truly,
HANCOCK COUNTY
COMMERCE
Sylvia McComiskey, Manager

Perry Gibson, President of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, made the following statement, concerning the resignation of Sylvia McComiskey as manager of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

"This is my second term as president of the Chamber of Commerce. In my first term I did serve with an executive director of the chamber and it was proven at that time that the county was not ready for such an ambitious project. When Talley Rayburn, the executive director, resigned, it was my understanding that there was no opening for such a classification."

"A new position of manager was created and Mr. McComiskey has held that position for two and one half years. I am under the assumption that this is the top classification approved by the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

"This organization plan has functioned under the preceding two presidents, and there has been no move by the present board of directors to change the classification. The application for executive director was presented through one board member during my absence and without my knowledge and it is my opinion that this was out of order as the board of directors had not gone on record as accepting applications for an executive director.

"At the present time, we are operating under a tight financial budget. The responsibilities of Mrs. McComiskey are growing and we have not had the financial means to support her in the increased demands made on the Chamber of Commerce and in the increased services we now offer.

"Should the board of directors create a position as executive director, I feel that Mrs. McComiskey is fully qualified to handle the position and should have first consideration.

"I extremely regret the incident as Mrs. McComiskey has an excellent working relationship with me, the board of directors, the members of the Chamber of Commerce, the public, the other Chambers in our area and the government contacts. I trust that we can work out a mutually satisfactory agreement through the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce when they meet to act on the resignation.

Tax credit explained for purchase of new homes

JACKSON - The Federal Tax Reduction Act of 1975 changed the period for replacing an old residence for purposes of non-recognition of gain. The one-year period has been increased to 18 months. Also, the period in which the taxpayer may construct a subsequent principal residence was increased from 18 months to two years if construction begins 18 months after the sale of the former principal residence.

This change is effective for the sales of old residences after December 31, 1974. The law provides for a tax credit for homes built or under construction before March 26, 1975, acquired and occupied after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977, provided that, if the house is not constructed by the taxpayer, he must have entered into a binding contract to purchase the house before January 1, 1976.

In addition, the taxpayer must be the first occupant of the house and it must be the principal place of residence. The taxpayer must attach to the income tax return a certification by the seller that the purchase price by the buyer is the lowest price at which the new residence had been offered for sale.

Where a house is being constructed by the taxpayer and was under construction on March 12, 1975, a tax credit will be granted only for the part of the construction completed after that date.

For example, if the total costs of construction were $40,000 and as of March 12, 1975, $35,000 worth was completed, the credit would be 5 percent of the remaining $5,000. The tax credit applies only to a principal residence and not to summer houses or rental property.

The new law provides for a tax credit equal to 5 percent of the taxpayer's "adjusted basis" in the new residence up to a $2,000 maximum. If a person sold an old residence at a gain of $8,000 and such gain was not recognized by reason of reinvestment of the proceeds in a new residence, the adjusted basis of the new residence would be the purchase price of the new residence reduced by the amount of gain not recognized on the sale of the old residence.

Therefore, the tax credit would be 5 percent of the adjusted basis of the new house. In any case, the tax credit for this purpose cannot exceed the buyer's tax liability.

The law provides for severe penalties for the seller of a house who makes a false certification concerning the lowest price for which the house had been offered for sale. In the event of a false certification, the seller may be sued by the purchaser and be liable for damages for three times the excess charged over the seller's lowest offered price, plus attorney's fees. In addition, the seller may be prosecuted on criminal charges.

MET membership drive underway

A statewide effort has begun this month to double the membership of Mississippians for Educational Television, a volunteer group dedicated to making the public aware of the contribution ETV can make to the educational and economic development of our state.

Few volunteer organizations offer such high goals; fewer still are composed of such concerned, dedicated citizens. But since MET's primary goal is public awareness, it cannot achieve this goal without a large membership. Through April membership, MET is conducting a membership campaign aimed at securing new members in every county in Mississippi.

If you are interested in knowing more about MET, you may get complete information by writing to MET, P.O. Box 1101, Jackson, Mississippi 39205. If you already know and want to join, the dues range from $2.00 for a student, and $5.00 for general adult membership to $100.00 plus for institutions, industries, and benefactors. No matter at what level you join, you receive the same informational materials which include a monthly ETV Program Guide, MET 19, MET is conducting a membership campaign aimed at securing new

April named cancer control month

Congress, President Ford and governors across the country have proclaimed April Cancer Control Month.

Mrs. Betty Ford is honorary chairman of this year's cancer crusade. Actress Raquel Welch is the national Crusade Chairman, and Edward Asner, of the Mary Tyler Moore television show, is Education Chairman.

Dr. Thomas Barnes, Greenville, president of the Mississippi Division of the American Cancer Society, announced that the State Crusade goal is $500,000.

In proclaiming April as Cancer Control Month, Governor Waller said cancer will strike some 6,600 Mississippians this year, that one of three who get cancer is being cured, and that at least half of those who get cancer could be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment.

The American Cancer Society, in addition to its support of research, also alerts the public to cancer's warning signals and reminds the public that many cancers can be prevented, such as lung cancers caused mainly by cigarette, and skin cancers caused by frequent exposure to direct sunlight. "The strength of the American Cancer Society lies in the thousands of volunteers who give so much of their time and talent," said Mrs. Marjorie Rowden, state crusade chairman.

Last year, state volunteers raised $450,000 for the Society's public education and professional education programs and for the research, the direct services and the rehabilitation programs conducted by the American Cancer Society and its divisions at the national and state levels.

The cancer society provides pain-relieving drugs, transportation for needy patients, chemotherapy, educational materials, summer fellowships for medical students, courses for therapists and grants for technical conferences, Dr. Barnes said.

Echo supports Manager and Chamber Work programs

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce was called Tuesday night for the purpose of the Board taking action on a letter of resignation from Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, Chamber Manager.

This newspaper being active in the Chamber activities and functions recognizes that some members of the Board of Directors have injected their feeling in recent weeks in support of the Chamber considering hiring an executive director.

The Chamber Board of Directors, should seriously remember, an obvious mistake which was made several years back, when that Board of Directors, went to an outside source and hired an executive director at a salary and an expense account that in the end, the Chamber could not financially support. At present we have a very capable and dedicated person in Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, our present Chamber Manager. Since being in the capacity as manager, we have observed that she has performed successfully in all of her duties and undertakings.

Currently in motion are several programs of work that should have far reaching impact in the near future on the life of the people of our community.

The Chamber of Commerce has the opportunity to see the development of these programs into a reality - IF AND ONLY IF THE HUMAN RESOURCES OF THIS CHAMBER WILL UNITE AND PULL TOGETHER FOR ONE CAUSE - THAT BEING THE BETTERMENT FOR THE LIFESTYLE OF THE PEOPLE OF HANCOCK COUNTY.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Speaking of Indians, we suppose that most kids picture the red man as a bloodthirsty, warlike troublemaker.

And so he was in many instances, and almost all of the large Midwestern tribes such as the Apaches, Sioux, Iroquois and many others caused the country a great deal of trouble and loss of life.

Two notable exceptions were the Choctaws and Chickasaws, of whom historian Martin Abbott writes that they never "presented a grave threat to internal peace. Loyal and friendly, they caused the national government little trouble and expense." But, as Abbott points out, a lot of good their peaceful attitude did them, for they were subjected to "unrelenting pressure by the whites until in the mid-1830's both tribes were persuaded to migrate west of the Mississippi."

A quick review of the early part of the 19th century shows that most of the credit for this Indians' friendship was due to the wisdom and moderation of the white men who governed the tribes and to the capable leadership of the chiefs themselves.

The Choctaws who inhabited the piney woods country along the Gulf Coast got along fine with the white man, though in general the two races preferred to keep to themselves as much as possible, as illustrated by the quiet removal of the Indians from the Bay to the Pearl River country when Shieldsboro was established and developed into a white settlement. Pushmataha, supreme chief of the Choctaws for many years, was constantly active in promoting friendship with the whites, as was John Pitchlyn, an Englishman who had been reared by the tribe; together they prevented an alliance of the Choctaws with Tecumseh and the Creek Indians in the rebellion of 1813.

Naturally there were exceptions to this harmony. Most of the trouble centered around Natchez, where small groups of Indians often raided isolated farms and stole cattle and household goods. The whites, too, caused trouble by encroaching on Indian lands in spite of threats of imprisonment, and dozens of these land-hungry squatters were forcibly removed by Federal officers. Many white settlers also added to the unpleasantness by converting their corn into moonshine whiskey, which found a ready sale to the young Indians.

These were minor annoyances, however, compared to the killings, burnings and general terror inflicted on the white man by many of the Indian tribes north and west of the Mississippi Valley. And while the Sioux, Apaches and other warlike tribes eventually were suppressed by military force, the peaceful Choctaws and Chickasaws were persuaded to get out of the white man's way by moving the whole tribes to land provided by the government for them in Oklahoma.

And there, it is averred, after being bamboozled out of their rich holdings in Mississippi, they lived happily ever after.

Farmers will not be able to apply lime this spring to many acres of soybeans that need it. If this is your case, be sure to apply a molybdenum seed treatment for all land that has a pH value below 6.

About one-half ounce of sodium molybdenate per bushel of seed is adequate to provide the molybdenum needs of the bacteria necessary for soybeans to fix nitrogen from the air.

Inoculation of soybean seed to insure adequate nodulation is recommended on land that has not been planted to soybeans in the past three years.

If inoculation is needed, it is recommended that the molybdenum be added separately and that the fungicide be omitted. Prepacked mixtures of

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

CONTROLLING THE UNCONTROLLABLE

If you wanted to cut the fat from our bloated federal budget, some people argue, your knife would be restricted to new and "controllable" items.

The overwhelming bulk of that budget, they say, is comprised of a vast array of permanent, locked-in federal programs. That huge percentage of the budget, they insist, is "uncontrollable."

I don't agree with that assessment, and a growing number of colleagues in the Congress share my view. Several of us expressed our concern in a recent series of speeches on the House floor. Many Members of this body complain of the difficulty of getting new legislation and innovative programs through the maze of procedural obstacles which we as a legislature have established, but when we stop to examine the question a bit more closely, we suddenly discover that it is often even more difficult to repeal or reduce an existing program than it is to put a new one through.

An existing program has a definite clientele, after all: it has the federal employees who are paid to administer it, and the members of the general public who have benefited or expect to benefit from it. All such people have an emphatic vested interest in the program's continuation, and frequently are skilled at painting horrendous pictures of the consequences of its termination or reduction.

All this means that, once a program has been funded and established, it acquires something resembling a life of its own. The general expectation in Congress is that, unless it has done some marked disservice to the public or was indisputably designed to be a "temporary program, the program will continue to be funded at a rising rate -- in the case of new programs just starting up -- or at least at a rate very like that prevailing in preceding years.

Actually, if budgets were held to prevailing levels, at least some of the fiscal explosion we have recently observed in the federal budget would not have occurred. It develops, though, when we inspect the budget more closely, that some long-established governmental institutions have suddenly become great consumers of funds.

I contend that we need to adopt a new approach to the existing bureaucracy. The recent Heritage Foundation budget study formulates a general principle for an approach to the bureaucracy which more of us should follow.

"One could make it a rule of thumb," the study says, "that any bureaucracy is overstaffed, and that it should always be the bureaucracy's task to show positive need for additional salary and expense appropriations. Instead, the assumption of those who compile administration budget requests seems to be that allocations for salaries and administrative expenses should usually rise sharply."

When one merely glances through the appendix to the President's budget, one can only wonder at the immense multiplicity of federal programs already in existence. Has not the time come to take a really hard look at even the long-established programs with an eye to cutting them back?

I suspect that if some federal agencies really believed they were in danger of being eliminated, they would suddenly become much more responsive to the wishes of the public.

Let us then in our respective committees examine the budget requests of even long established agencies with a sharp eye. When we do, we may discover that this budget is not as "uncontrollable" as it might seem.

PLANTING TIME

The actual planting of your crop is a critical operation. It is extremely important that you get a good stand the first planting this year.

Here are some recommendations that could help you do this. Plant the very best seed available in a warm, moist, firm, but well drained seedbed. Make all of your early plantings on a raised seedbed.

Soy beans will respond to early sidedressing with phosphate -- potash mixed fertilizers. Apply banded fertilizers at least six inches from the drill and below the seeding depth.

Use proper rates of herbicides for the soil type and consider banding the material to stretch the limited supply.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

"Get ready! Get Set! Go!" These familiar commands usually refer to races, and racing is what the Bay-Waveland Hancock County Bicentennial Committee is now doing to beat the "dead-line" to qualify for Federal matching grants to be used to provide display cases for the Hancock County Public Library.

Last Sunday Bicentennial Committee co-ordinator Brother Pierre St. Pierre reported forms for the applications had been completed and were sent this week to Jackson where they will be reviewed by the State Bicentennial Commission before being forwarded to federal officials in Washington.

The display cases project was applied for under two guideline qualifications: Heritage '76 and Horizons '76. The display cases will be used to exhibit artifacts and memorabilia including Indian culture, English, French, Spanish and early American museum quality materials.

Heritage '76 is concerned not only with the past, but with the present and the future. It is concerned with the present state of our national inheritance and recognizes that the American Revolution is a permanent process of renewals, change, and improvement in American life.

It is the aim of the Bay-Waveland Hancock County Bicentennial Committee to seek total involvement of all of the people of Hancock County in an all-out effort to improve the quality of life for all people living in our area. The Committee will strive to promote cooperation between towns and county and to set a high priority on progress in such fields as town and rural development, health, transportation, education and industry.

Horizons '76 is a call for achievement. Wherever people are joined by common interest and define their shared aims they can work together to build the third century of American independence by applying the best principles and spirit of the past.

The list of those who have volunteered support is long and it is growing! The Hancock County Board of Supervisors have generously contributed from their budget toward matching funds. The Bay-Waveland Garden Club is continuing plantings along U.S. Highway 90. Friends of the Library have expressed a desire to erect a flag pole on the grounds of the library when it is completed, and a flag has been donated.

The Clean Up and Beautification Programs in both Bay St. Louis and Waveland are well under way. Public grounds are in the process of improvement including grounds at the Bay St. Louis and Waveland's City Halls, Court House and post offices. Several businesses are in the process of repairs and an expansion project is well underway at the Hancock County Public Health Center on Dunbar Avenue.

The Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has undertaken the Herculean task of cleaning and upgrading many cemeteries, including the historic Pearlington cemetery. A newly chartered historic society is busily engaged in documenting the history of our county and will contribute largely to the contents of the display cases as well as other exhibits planned for the tourist information center.

Officially the Bicentennial year begins on April 18. On that date 200 years ago Paul Revere began his mid night ride and on April 19 the first shots of the American Revolution were fired by Massachusetts minutemen.

Two hundred years later it is not necessary to warn that the British are coming. The British are here! So are the descendants of Indians, Spanish, French, Africans, Germans, etc. We are here -- a melting pot of nationalities that have made America a strong and great nation. We are here with a common task that of preserving our freedoms. Get ready! Get Set. Let's GO!

Tips For Veterans

Q-My 74-year-old grandfather is a veteran drawing pension from the Veterans Administration. I hear that pensioners his age don't have to file income questionnaires anymore. Is that true?

A-Yes. Veterans 72 years old and older who've been on VA pension rolls during two consecutive years are exempt. They must notify the agency of changes in value of their estates or annual incomes, however.

Q-I'm a ready reservist, and wonder if I'm eligible for Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) issued by the Veterans Administration?

A-Yes. The Veterans Insurance Act of 1974 provides automatic $20,000 coverage under SGLI for service personnel on active duty and ready reservists. You may elect coverage in amounts of $5,000, $10,000, $15,000, or no coverage at all.

Q-What is the federal government doing, education-wise, to help veterans who dropped out of high school before entering military service?

A-The Veterans Administration has provided GI Bill "catch up" training to 645,000 so-called educationally disadvantaged veterans since the current law was enacted in June 1966. About 390,000 of them received "free entitlement," which means the benefit was not charged against their basic entitlement.

Q-I'm a World War II veteran with barely enough income to live on. Am I eligible for a Veterans Administration pension?

A-VA pensions are based on need and nonservice-connected disability. Veterans 65 years of age and older are considered disabled for purposes of eligibility for VA pension and medical benefits. Your income may not exceed $3,000 a year, if single, and $4,200 if there are dependents.

Q-Because of a severe service-connected disability, the Veterans Administration says I'll be eligible after discharge from the Army for a $25,000 grant toward purchase of a specially adapted home. Are such homes exempt from state real estate taxes?

A-Many states provide relief from taxes. You should check with your local VA office for tax exemptions in your state.

Q-After I'm discharged from military service I'd like to become a physician's assistant. Which Veterans Administration hospitals may I apply for training?

A-Apply to any college or university of your choice, then contact the nearest VA office if you would like to train under the GI Bill. VA hospitals provide clinical training to students enrolled in physician's assistant programs of colleges and universities.

U. S. to Borrow Near 80 Billion. These headlines appeared recently in local papers.

Let's take a partial inventory for what this is apparently worth.

Direct from our treasury department officials - Quote: The tax decreases and "rebates" recently enacted are partially responsible for the borrowing which is 7 times last years borrowing of 11.8 billion, but 1.5 billion will be raised through the sale of 9 1/2 month treasury bills on April 8. - Unquote.

Why didn't these officials also include other government subsidies such as keeping rail roads in business? Subsidizing building construction, which apparently only benefits big contractors? Subsidies for not planting acreage? Who is this benefiting? No, not the "poor" farmer because he can't afford enough land to qualify.

Financing wars around the world with the pretext of saving human lives; and right here at home, Mr. Tax Payer, you are paying to murder our own people "your future next door neighbor." How? Yes, part of your tax dollar (goes) to finance murder. The nice word for it is abortion.

Bay student devises better way to get 'creamed'

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

A student at Bay Senior High School, Paul Scianna, has found the perfect solution for teenagers who are dissatisfied with the present acne skin creams on the market. Scianna will be going to the international science fair competition in Oklahoma City May 11 - 17 to demonstrate an original formula for acne control which has won first place in local, district and state competitions this year and last.

"There are about 18 million teenagers with acne problems, and no one has ever really invented anything to help them," Scianna said. "All of the creams that are on the market today are just drying agents, they don't do anything to control it."

Scianna has applied for a patent for the formula that he has developed and tested for the past two years. Among the testimonials to the effectiveness of the cream are Scianna's twin brother and several students at Bay High School who were willing to try their classmate's formula.

"It works better than anything I've ever used before," Scianna said. "In fact, it leaves the skin in better condition than the other creams that you can buy. It completely cleared my brother's acne and the girls at school who tried it."

The project began in November of 1973 as an entry for the local science fair. At first the project was to be a study of the present creams on the market, but soon it developed into an original formula, and now Scianna says that he will continue the study to see if his formula can be expanded to control other skin diseases.

The inventor drew most of his information from pharmaceutical books and two advisers, Curtis Hegwood, Hancock General Hospital Laboratory technician, and Tony Schexnayder, Eckerd's pharmacist. Scianna conducted the research while Hegwood and Schexnayder helped by supplying materials and equipment.

"I might not have even started the project if it hadn't been mandatory," Scianna said. "But once I got going on it, I just couldn't stop. I've worked on it for so long now that it is practically a part of me."

The project began winning prizes last year, winning first places at the local, district and state levels as well as being named as alternate to the international competition.

American know-how

Paul Scianna, senior at Bay High School, works on his personalized acne skin cream formula at the laboratory at Hancock General Hospital. Scianna's formula has won

This year Scianna has added to the project and it has again taken first places at local and district competitions and will be entered in the state competition April 18 - 19 in Jackson. It is already slated for the international competition in May.

In addition to these honors the project has also won various special awards including the Navy Science Award, the Army Science Award, the American Association of Microbiologists Award and the Ninth District Mississippi Pharmaceutical Association's award. Scianna is also hoping that if the cream is marketable, it will help him to continue his education.

Scianna's plans for the future are a surprise to many who know of his accomplishments in science. He plans to study journalism in college and then continue in law school.

"I never really liked science," he said. "In fact, I think it is one of my weakest subjects in school. I just got involved in this special project because I thought I might really be able to develop something that would be useful."

Science is obviously not Scianna's only interest. He has also represented Bay Senior High at Boy's State, Boy's Nation and the Presidential Classroom. His main career interest at present he says is politics.

"I think I really got involved in this project because everybody told me it was impossible," he said. "I think that just gave me more incentive to show them that it was possible."

Free Publications From R & D

The R&D Center has published a second issue of "R&D Economic Comment," an eight-page brochure that presents a factual summary of the current and evolving economic situation.

According to Dr. Kenneth C. Wagner, R&D Center director, "The publication attempts to present as simply and graphically as possible some of the causes of inflation, and explains the dilemma facing government officials."

The publication was prepared using data supplied by the Center's econometric model and Wharton Econometric Forecasting Associates. Subjects discussed include problems facing the government, consumer mood, the decline in gross national product, inflation and its causes, and the outlook for the future.

"With this second issue of 'Economic Comment,' the publication becomes periodic rather than quarterly as was optimistically planned," Dr. Wagner said. "Our plan is to get issues out often enough to keep the public informed of trends in the economy and how Mississippi will be affected."

To obtain a copy of the publication at no charge, or to be added to the Center's mailing list, contact Public Information Office, R&D Center, P.O. Drawer 2470, Jackson, MS 39205, telephone 982-6466.

Laboratory opens for public tours

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs is making preparations this week for the annual open house observance from 1 - 5 p.m. Sunday, April 13.

The public is invited to visit both the main campus of the teaching laboratory, located in Ocean Springs, and the Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

The entrance to the Laboratory's 40-acre site in Ocean Springs, organized almost 28 years ago, is on East Beach at Halstead Road. The three-year-old Marine Education Center is on the south side of U. S. 90 immediately west of the Ocean Springs bridge.

The Laboratory is a full-time research center which performs marine investigations for various state and federal agencies and for private industry. It also serves 43 colleges and universities as a teaching affiliate devoted to the marine sciences.

The Marine Education Center maintains living specimens of the flora and fauna of the coastal zone of Mississippi, including some species which cannot be viewed anywhere else in the area. This facility is open to the public without charge on weekdays and a half day on Saturday. Groups are asked to make prior arrangements.

Several new studies of coastal, estuarine, and oceanic plants and animals, the geology, and the other physical characteristics of the north central Gulf of Mexico will be featured among the exhibits. Other displays contain information on ongoing research projects. In addition to showing actual specimens of the flora and fauna and the geology of the area, displays will include photography depicting field and laboratory procedures and methods used in investigations.

A sideline feature of the open house observance will be an arts and crafts display of staff members' work. This display will be located in the Gunter Library at the Ocean Springs site. Examples of craft work using environmental materials are part of the permanent exhibit at the Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

Waveland, $100,000. Hancock County also applied for $500,000 under the program.

Perkins was asked why HUD officials told the local SMSA cities to apply for more than $225,000 when, as it turned out, no money was available. Perkins said, "We were working on estimates to arrive at this $225,000 figure. We set a half million dollars as the maximum that the cities could apply for, but we advised the cities not to apply for that whole amount."

The federal program was designed to eliminate categorical grants such as HUD's neighborhood development program, the urban renewal program, the water and sewer program and other HUD-funded programs.

Mayor Warren Carver of Bay St. Louis said recently that the citizens of Bay St. Louis had a chance to receive HUD funds in 1951, but, he said, the city voted down the proposal in two different referendums.

John Longo, mayor of Waveland, assessed his city's situation as follows: "It doesn't really matter. We weren't getting anything anyway."

It was once believed that serpents cured blindness with fennel roots.

Towns improve facilities

Bay St. Louis is one of 26 Mississippi towns in 17 counties which began construction or renovation of public library buildings in 1974 through the Library Service and Construction Act or State Revenue Sharing funds. County Board of Supervisors, local municipalities, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Mississippi Library Commission worked together to obtain the funds and begin the projects.

The size of each new project, ranging from an 800 square foot addition to a 12,000 square foot building, is determined by present population and projected needs for the next 15 to 20 years. All 26 projects made possible by county funds are members of one of the State's county or multi-county library systems.

Waveland system would be too expensive for the city and for the individual homeowners who would have to pay to have the system connected at their property lines.

Kidd is presently experimenting with a study with NSTL using water hyacinth to control water pollution which he feels will be more economical than the Waveland system.

"I have no control over what Bay St. Louis does," Longo said. "If they don't want to tie in with the system, they don't have to do it. I still think though that one system for the southern half of the county would be the best, and if this 201 study shows that it is feasible, we could have the most modern treatment plant in the whole southern area."

NO museum features American works

The New Orleans Museum of Art will present a "Panorama of American Painting" featuring 60 works by 52 American artists opening Saturday, April 19 and remaining through June 8 in the Ella West Freeman Gallery. The paintings are from the collection of Dr. John J. McDonough of Youngstown, Ohio.

A Panorama of American Painting is part of the New Orleans Museum of Art's Bicentennial program and was organized to compliment the Museum's series of Bicentennial exhibitions focused on the Arts of Louisiana. The McDonough collection ranges from a 1740 portrait by the colonial master Robert Fekke to a 1961 watercolor by Charles Burchfield. Among the artists represented in the exhibition are Charles Willson Peale, Gilbert Stuart, Thomas Sully, Thomas Cole, Albert Bierstadt, George Inness, William M. Harnett, Winslow Homer, Mary Cassatt, Child Hassam, John Singer Sargent, Robert Henri, John Sloan, Maurice Prendergast, George Bellows, Walt Kuhn, Milton Avery and Andrew Wyeth.

The New Orleans exhibition is the first time the McDonough collection has been shown in its entirety. Recently two of his pictures were included in the National Gallery of Art's "American Impressionist Painting" exhibition, and two others were featured in the National Portrait Gallery's "American Self-Portraits 1670-1973" show.

Pass garden club holds elections

The election of officers for 1975-76 was the main order of business at the Pass Christian Garden Club meeting April 3. Those members elected include: President - Mrs. Mary Brandt; 1st Vice-President - Mrs. Sue Haines; 2nd Vice-President - Miss Adele Bielenberg; Recording Secretary - Mrs. Lorette Wittmann; Corresponding Secretary - Mrs. Pat Law; Treasurer - Mrs. Virginia Wainwright; Parliamentarian - Mrs. Jack Harrison; Historian & Scrapbook - Mrs. Bertha Giani.

Installation ceremonies will take place at the May luncheon meeting at the Pass Christian Yacht Club. The luncheon was originally scheduled to be held at the William Harrison home, but had to be cancelled. The Yacht Club luncheon will be sponsored by the Yacht Club Ladies Auxiliary.

Dr. Celestine Linnstraeder reported that the Pilgrimage in Pass Christian had been very successful; the main problem that was encountered was traffic tie-ups at the various homes on the tour.

Mrs. Brandt reminded various committee heads that their annual reports are due at the May meeting which is the last meeting of the year. Dues are also payable at this time. President-elect of the Coast Council of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Bertha Littell, has requested the Pass Garden Club's cooperation in plans for a Coast-wide flower show next Spring.

"Roses on the Gulf Coast" was the subject of the two guest speakers Marjorie Conn and Howard Berry of Gulfport. They said roses should be planted in an area that is well drained and receives five to six hours of sun a day. Do not fertilize at planting time, first feeding should be done after the roses have leafed out and formed buds. Mr. Berry said that a regular spray program at intervals of seven to ten days is the key to disease control. Pruning is very important to remove all dead or diseased canes and for shaping but here in this climate established plants should be left approximately 24 to 36 inches in height. "Feed and water your roses regularly and they will reward you generously," Berry said.

Hancock General receives accreditation

Hancock General Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission On Accreditation Of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Donald Kessler, M. D.; Program Director.

This accreditation, which covers Jan. 7, 1975, to Jan. 7, 1977, is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the joint commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP). Accreditation indicates that Hancock General has chosen to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

The standards, published as the Accreditation Manual For Hospitals, set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

Hancock General Hospital is one of approximately 5,300 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 7,400 hospitals in the United States accredited by Joint Commission.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a benchmark of quality that is higher than governmental licensure alone.

The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons. It was incorporated in 1951 with the support of its present member organizations: The American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association.

JCAH is a Chicago-based, non governmental, nonprofit organization. In addition to hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of long term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, and facilities for the mentally retarded.

Ole Miss offers Watergate course

UNIVERSITY, Miss. -- Watergate and its consequences will be the subject of a new Philosophy course taught at the University of Mississippi in the Fall of 1975-76.

Dr. Thomas J. Flynn, chairman of the Philosophy Department at Ole Miss, will teach the course, "Ethics After Watergate," which will consider professional and personal ethics in such areas as politics, sociology, and ecology.

"We will be taking current, puzzling, troubling problems and move them from legal to ethical arenas and see what principles are involved, what principles are operable in specific situations and what obligations we have to future generations as contrasted to the present generation," explained Dr. Flynn.

"With our course, we're trying to expose the tip of the ethical iceberg so students from all schools and departments on campus can come and see that the water is fine," he said. "Ethics After Watergate" will be concerned primarily with topical issues, the course will provide a systematic study of ethics and an introduction to great ethical thinkers."

DO YOU REALLY NEED A REPAIR MAN?

Do you really need to call that repairman? Be sure before you do - it might save you the cost of a service call. As many as one third of the service calls are made when there is nothing wrong with the appliance.

Before you call check the following: 1) Is the switch really all the way on? 2) Is the appliance plugged in? Better be sure. 3) Is there a loose wire some place? 4) Is there electricity in the house? 5) Has a fuse blown or circuit breaker tripped? Check the outlet to be sure electricity reaches it. 6) Does a reset button need resetting? Has it popped out? 7) Is the door closed securely? 8) Is the automatic oven timer on range on manual?

After you have checked these, then read the book of instruction if you haven't, and determine if there is something else that might be wrong. Usually the instruction book will make suggestions about calling a repairman that will facilitate service to you.

FOCUS ON REFRIGERATORS-
HOW TO SAVE MONEY, ENERGY
Knowing how to use your refrigerator properly will save energy and money. Make sure the refrigerator isn't next to a heat source such as a radiator or air duct, range or even a dishwasher. Although today's modern refrigerators are well insulated, extra heat makes the refrigerator work harder and longer.

Of course, it makes good sense not to open the door or leave it open more than necessary. Before opening the door, decide what you are looking for.

Clean the condenser twice a year using the nozzle attachment of a vacuum cleaner. Dust on the condenser acts as insulation, making it less efficient.

Larry and David Rogers, sons of Mrs. Janet Rogers, RN, are reported to be doing well at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport following an automobile accident March 23.

HGH's new answer-call system has been installed this past month which serves communications between the patient and nursing service. The telephone device, located in each patient's room, can be used to reach the nurses station, hospital operator, or an outside line. The patient also receives incoming calls on the system. The master console is located at the nurses station and serves the entire hospital. The answer-call system was installed by South Central Bell.

Margo Burge, Area Executive Director of the American Cancer Society, will present a lecture to the NAPS District 19 members April 16 in HGH's Conference Room. The meeting opens at 5 p.m. and all LPN's and RN's are urged to attend.

Local players win in Coast tournament

By DAVID PIERSON
Anne Johnson of Coast Episcopal and the OLA girls' doubles tennis team of Susan Benvenuti and Tricia Dickinson won titles in Coast Invitational Tennis Tournament at Hiller Park in Biloxi Saturday. Thirteen teams were represented in the all-day marathon event that saw several top-seeded players lose their first matches this year. Anne Johnson, coming off her first defeat of the year in a team match against Gulfport East, won four matches to claim the girls' single trophy. After downing Kim Ferrill of Biloxi 6-2, 6-0 and Kym Walsh of d'Iberville 6-2, 6-2, Miss Johnson faced her toughest test of the day in a confrontation with OLA's Lis Lagarde.

The two players played a two and one half hour marathon characterized by long volleys with Anne Johnson finally winning 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 to move into the finals against Lisa Puckett.

The long semi-final match was supposed to take its toll on Miss Johnson, but she showed stamina in a 6-0, 6-3 finals win that took another two hours to complete. Miss Johnson's only season loss had been to Miss Puckett earlier.

Other local players competing in the girls' singles event - Noella Williams, Mary Davids, and Susan Boykin - lost first round matches. Lis Lagarde of OLA defeated Karen Daugherty 7-6, 6-2, before losing to Anne Johnson in the semi-finals.

The OLA girls' doubles team of Susan Benvenuti and Tricia Dickinson, last year's state champions, remained undefeated as they won three matches en route to claiming the girls' doubles championship, but the OLA team had to withstand a strong challenge from Bay High's team of Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel in the finals.

Kidd and Stieffel won three straight matches and seemed on the verge of pulling off a major upset as they led midway through the match 7-5, 3-0.

But the Benvenuti-Dickinson team rebounded to claim the second set 6-4. In the final set, Bay High's team of Kidd and Stieffel missed several easy shots, and Benvenuti and Dickinson raced to a 6-0 final set win.

Girls' doubles teams from Pass High, Long Beach, and Coast Episcopal were eliminated in the first round of action.

In mixed doubles play, the SSC-OLA team of Bob Warner and Susie Tabor lost their first match of the year in a finals match against the Gulfport East team of Glenn Coppone and Kathy Hearn 1-6, 6-4, 6-7.

Warner and Tabor battled evenly throughout the final set but lost on the final tie breaking point of the match, 5-4.

Teams from Long Beach, Pass High, Coast Episcopal, and Bay High were eliminated in the first round. In the boys' doubles bracket, Perry and Paul Clinkscapes of Coast Episcopal reached the semi-finals before falling to the eventual champions from Gulfport East, Moni Simpkins and Michael Martin 6-0, 4-6, 6-1. All other local teams were eliminated in the first round.

In boys' singles play, Jim Cantrell defeated Don Gaddy in straight sets in the finals 6-4, 6-1. Roderick Singleton of Bay High, Mark Stupulski of Stanislaus, and Coast Episcopal's Jamie Hans were all defeated in the first round of play.

The undefeated

Tricia Dickinson looks on as her partner Susan Benvenuti forehands a shot in their finals match against Bay High's team of Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel. The Benvenuti-Dickinson team won the match and finished first in the 13-team tournament. Their three match wins in Saturday's Coast Invitational Tournament kept their perfect season record intact.

The Bay St. Louis Youth Softball League will hold an organizational meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at St. Rose de Lima School in Bay St. Louis.

All teams interested in joining are urged to send a representative to the meeting.

Unearned run lifts Bearcats, 4-3

The Long Beach Bearcats squeezed across an unearned run with the bases loaded and two out in the top of the eighth inning last Wednesday to edge the Pass High Pirates 4-3 in Pass Christian.

The Pirates, who received their fourth straight loss of the season, tied the game at 3-3 in the bottom of the sixth on two singles, a walk, and two hit batsmen.

Tim Berry, pitching the last two innings in relief for Bearcat starter Pique, was credited with his first win of the year. Pique pitched six innings, gave up three earned runs, walked three, and struck out six Pirates before he was lifted.

Donnie Bentz, working in relief for the Bucs' starting pitcher Myron Cook, received his second hard-luck decision of the season because of an infield error.

Pass wins homerun derby, 5-4

Homeruns by Paul Stewart, Donnie Bentz, and Jack Ulrich led the Pass High Pirates to a come-from-behind 5-4 win in Pascagoula River Conference play Saturday afternoon in Pass Christian. The win snapped the Pirates four game losing skid.

Pirate third baseman Paul Stewart started the homerun derby with a two-run shot off Notre Dame pitcher David Martino.

Andre Jemison, the Rebel shortstop, responded with a three-run homerun in the top of the second inning to help put Notre Dame on top 4-2. In the bottom of the second inning, the Pirates got the lead to 4-3 when Henry Malley singled and then scored on Ronnie Sizemore's suicide squeeze.

Pirate pitcher Donnie Bentz aided his own cause with a game-tying leadoff homerun in the fourth inning, and Jack Ulrich provided the winning margin with the third Buc blast of the day off Martino.

Bentz went the distance for the Pirates, giving up just three hits, fanning four and walking three. After Notre Dame touched him for four runs in the second inning, Bentz allowed just two baserunners the rest of the way.

David Martino was the losing pitcher for Notre Dame. He pitched six innings, struck out two, walked one, and gave up eight hits, including all three of the homeruns. The win raised the Pirates' conference record to 2-1 and their season record to 3-4.

Stanislaus netters shutout Bay High, 5-0

The Stanislaus - OLA tennis team won a surprisingly easy match over Bay High Thursday afternoon with all the varsity matches being decided in two sets.

Mack Szepielko defeated Bay High's Rodrick Singleton 6-4, 6-1, and OLA's girls' singles player, Lis Lagarde, eased past Noella Williams 6-2, 6-1.

In the girls' doubles match, Susan Berenutti and Tricia Dickinson won over Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel in straight sets 6-2, 6-0. SSC's boys' doubles team of Tom Piland and Bayne Dickinson overpowered Keith Folse and Charles Damiens 6-0, 6-2.

Bob Warner and Susie Tabor claimed the mixed doubles match with a 6-2, 6-2 win over Bay High's team of Donna and Warren Sick.

The Stanislaus netters had as much ease in downing Bay High's B-squad by winning all five matches in straight sets. It was the eighth straight win for the SSC-OLA netters who have not yet lost a team match. Bay High's record fell to 2-3.

Parker Duplessis of Pass High grimaces as he strains to reach first base on an infield

Bearcats maul Picayune, 6-2

The Long Beach Bearcats got back on the winning track Monday afternoon in Long Beach with a 6-2 come-from-behind win over Picayune in the first district game for both teams.

The Bearcats, who were stunned last Saturday in the finals of the Harrison Central Tournament, fell behind 1-0 in the second inning when Parker tripled and then scored the first run of the game. Long Beach tied the game in the bottom of the second, but the Maroon Tide recaptured the lead in the fourth on a double by Sorrells who later scored the go-ahead run.

In the bottom of the fourth, the Long Beach bats came to life to pound out three runs and drive starting pitcher Davis out of the game. The Bearcats added two more runs in the fifth and went on to win. Tommy McKay, who went all the way on the mound for Long Beach, gave up five hits, walked one and struck out ten. He also allowed his first earned run of the year after four starts. His record is now 4-0.

Shortstop Bill Lansdale of Long Beach had a perfect day with the bat pounding out three hits in three trips to the plate.

Messell was tagged with the loss for Picayune in relief. Long Beach will carry a 7-1 season record to Ocean Springs today for a 3:30 district game against the Greyhounds, last week's winners of the St. Stanislaus Invitational Tournament.

RANDY SANTA CRUZ started off strong with three firsts to take an early lead which he held throughout to win the BWYC SEARS and JUNIOR LIPTON ELIMINATIONS. ELLEN EAGAN, who finished second, offered the strongest challenge, and with one first, three seconds, and a fourth was within 1 1/2 points of first place going into the last race. ELIZABETH CHAPMAN came on strong at the end of the series by winning the last two races to earn her position as skipper, along with Randy and Ellen, on the 1975 BWYC Junior Lipton Team.

Rod Stieffel won the first of the two preliminary flights sailed on Saturday to determine the six finalists to compete in the round robin. Ellen Eagan was second, Elizabeth Chapman third and John Gordon fourth. The second flight was won by Cindy Stieffel, who tied in points with Randy Santa Cruz but beat him on time. Edgar Santa Cruz was third and Gordon Boh fourth.

Randy's victory earns for him not only his place as skipper on the Junior Lipton team but also the privilege of representing Bay-Waveland in the North American Junior Sailing Championship for the SEARS CUP. MIKE FAVRE

The Sea Coast Echo Player of the Week

Mike Favre of St. Stanislaus drove in seven runs in two games to raise his season RBI total to 15 and to take over the lead as the local hitter with the most runs-batted-in.

Favre, who is usually the Rocks' starting catcher, drew a pitching start last Monday and got credit for St. Stanislaus' 9-5 win over Bay High. In that game, Favre fanned eight Tigers in five innings. He also went one-for-three at the plate.

The following day he crashed his second homerun of the season and drove in three runs as he led the Rocks to a 9-1 decimation of Poplarville.

Then on Friday he drove in four more runs, three of which came home on a clutch bases-loaded double that broke open the game. In that game, as in the Poplarville contest, Favre went two-for-four as the Rocks upended the Tigers 9-2.

Tigerettes finish second in eight-team meet

The Bay High Tigerette track team placed second in the eight-team Biloxi Relays Friday afternoon.

Bay High's team total of 36 points was second only to Biloxi's score of 46. Pascagoula finished third with 32 points and Moss Point totalled 12. Ocean Springs finished with five points and Gulfport and Picayune tied with four points. Gulfport East finished last in the meet with three.

Perry Whavers of Bay High was first place in the baseball throw with a heave of 238 feet, four inches. Whavers' throw set a new Bay High record, eclipsing the 1972 record of Robin Lizana by almost two feet.

The 200 yard relay team of Vanessa Labat, Lori Fairconnette, Connie Payne, and Perry Whavers finished first in the 200 yard relay with a time of 24.4 seconds. Vanessa Labat finished in second place in the 50, 75, and 100 yard dashes with times of 6.4, 9.1, and 11.7 seconds. Connie Payne finished third in the long jump event with a leap of 15 feet, seven inches.

Margie Richardson was third in the high jump with a height of four feet, three inches. Finally, the Bay relay team finished in third place in both the 300 and the 440 yard relays with times of 36.0 and 52.6 seconds.

The Tigerettes travel to Moss Point Friday for a five-team meet including Moss Point, Pascagoula, George County, and d'Iberville.

Rocks bomb Bay, 9-2

The St. Stanislaus Rocks baseball team won its third straight game over Bay High last Friday afternoon 9-2. Stanislaus capitalized on Bay High's fielding miscues in the early innings to run up a 4-0 lead with three unearned runs. In the bottom of the sixth inning, ten Rocks came to the plate as Stanislaus broke open the game with five runs on five hits and one error.

Vernon Powell, Bay High's left-handed slugging first baseman, provided the game's only homerun with an opposite field solo shot in the seventh.

Mike Favre and Mike Price accounted for much of the Rocks' offense with Favre getting two hits and four rbi's (including a bases-loaded double in the sixth) and Price going three-for-four and scoring two runs.

Dan Ford, who was credited with the win for Stanislaus, fanned five and allowed just five hits. The decision raised his season record to 4-5.

Ricky Adams was tagged with his first loss of the year for the Tigers. David Turcotte came in to relieve for Adams in the sixth and finished for Bay High.

Have had a whole week of bad weather. Rain and cold weather, with high tides, continued in the afternoons. Easter has passed and maybe weather conditions will get better from now on. March winds are over and April showers might not be too many.

Spent the week in New Orleans. No fishing. Met a number of old friends. Talked fishing most of the time.

Some said they were gonna come over when the weather gets right to go fishing, crabbing, etc.

Fishing has been on the bad side for both fresh and salt water fish.

Crabbing is improving and it is hoped soft crabs will begin to give it time for them.

Lake peacocks seem to do better every other year. This should be a good year for them.

Frogging and floundering time is approaching. Things that can be done at night. Get the old lights ready. If you don't know how to enjoy these sports get in touch with me. Will gladly tell you what I know about getting them.

Was a pleasure meeting Emile Gilly of Pass Christian Isles in the Big City the other day. Emile is a golfer from way back and still enjoys the game. He asked if I wasn't out of my territory.

Gene Lindner loves to play the horses when not tending bar at Randy's Cafe in New Orleans. They'll be back next year. Gene. Better luck then.

Dan Haggerty, Jr. and Bobby Apperman made a turkey hunt last week. No luck but enjoyed the trip. You don't get turkeys on every trip, boys.

Met Fred F. Stubb. He was a former student at St. Stanislaus and lived at the Bay. Is in the real estate business with his brothers. He talked about his old friends among who were Brother Peter, Wop Glover, John Seafide and others. Still comes over occasionally. A small world after all.

Louis and Mary Beth Bourghard of Crystal Springs really enjoyed Bordage's Fishing Camp when they spent a couple of days Easter vacation, visiting her parents Herman and Polly Mazarakas. They caught oodles of crabs. This couple met at Kittiewake and still have a soft spot in their hearts for the Gulf Coast. Crystal Springs is only 10 miles from where I spent my boyhood.

days at Hazlehurst. Brings back old memories!

Clarese of Clarese's Bar is busy two ways. She takes care of the bar and is making a spring garden. She loves it.

Harlan Watkins told me of the big perch he has been getting down by Bayou Cadet. He said he was using small grass shrimp and worms. He used earth worms to catch them. Wouldn't take shrimp. That's unusual.

Dan Haggerty, Sr. is becoming a real fisherman these days. He goes with his sons on their boat which they share with their friends. Keep up the good work, Dan.

Another season is about to go out. The crayfish season in Louisiana. Crayfish festivals are being held this month. They are held at Houma, Lafayette, Thibodeaux and other cities mostly on the west banks of the Mississippi. Years ago most of the crayfish were caught around Mico before Highway 90 was built, when progress took over, crayfishing went.

George Helffer is fixing up his boat for spring fishing. Is a salt water fisherman who goes often. Gets 'em too.

Alma Dodson is getting ready to defend her golf title as champion at both Diamondhead and Pass Christian Isles. She is a sweet golfer, and we wish her the best of luck.

Betty Carroll entertained by playing the piano at Las Vegas night Saturday at Jourdan Shores, benefit of the church of the Annunciation at Kiln. Betty is a likable person and excellent entertainer. The affair was a successful one, enjoyed by everyone.

Met Mrs. R.S. Williamson who was the person who smartened me up by proving that King Mackerel are good eating. She and her husband have a home at Jourdan River Shores. Both are ardent fishermen and go regularly. Join us sometimes, folks.

Joe Zupporda is also a fisherman from New Orleans who has a home at Jourdan River Isles. He is owner of Economical Food Marts in the big city but spends his off time fishing on the Gulf Coast.

George M. Cleary and his wife Sara, told me of the 11 dozen hard crabs they caught at Bayou Cadet the other day. Proof that they must be giving.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonny Schultz had a baby boy, 8 1/2 pounds, at Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Louella Culbreth is the grandmother. Then two days later Louella became a great-grandmother of a baby girl born in Nicaragua. Two occasions to be proud of. Louella operates Travis Lounge on Central Ave.

Haven't heard of too many speckles being caught except of two nice ones gotten by Jimmy Larroux in the turtle pen by the Yacht Club. They should be moving in soon if the water will only clear up.

Bass and perch fishing is the best right now. Ponds and lakes are the best places to find them. Go to perch poles and earth worms for best results.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Myers celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary on April 7th. Henry is a valued employee at the local hospital and does crabbing, fishing, etc. in his spare time. His brother Alvin Myers is in New Orleans. Empire, Dela Croix & Hopedale are where he fishes and hunts. Caught over two sacks of crayfish one day last week. Another one of his hobbies.

Ole Miss' Holley recovering from surgery. UNIVERSITY, Miss. -- After a lengthy stay in University hospital in Jackson, John Reed Holley, athletic business manager at Ole Miss, is recuperating at his home in Oxford.

Holley underwent heart surgery Jan. 29. He is making steady progress in regaining his strength, his doctors reported, but it will be a long, drawn-out recuperation.

He will not be able to take part in the Red-Blue game festivities here the weekend of April 12, but expects to be back in his office in a month or two.

cheerleader tryouts

POPLARVILLE. Wildcat cheerleader try-outs will be held 3:30 p.m. Thursday, April 10, in the coliseum at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

"We have openings for four cheerleaders," said Mrs. Ann Morris, sponsor. "The openings are not restricted to females. The best males or females in the try-outs will be selected."

Candidates will be judged according to rhythm, appearance, personality, poise, and learning ability. Next year's sophomores cheerleaders, Cindy Hollman and Sandy Jones will teach the candidates a cheer and a pom-pom routine. Each candidate will also perform at least one routine that will display his or her ability.

Past cheerleading experience is helpful but not essential. Each cheerleader is awarded a $125 scholarship per semester. To remain eligible, however, they must pass 12 hours of scholastic work, and attend all athletic functions.

Ole Miss' Holley recovering from surgery. UNIVERSITY, Miss. -- After a lengthy stay in University hospital in Jackson, John Reed Holley, athletic business manager at Ole Miss, is recuperating at his home in Oxford.

Holley underwent heart surgery Jan. 29. He is making steady progress in regaining his strength, his doctors reported, but it will be a long, drawn-out recuperation.

He will not be able to take part in the Red-Blue game festivities here the weekend of April 12, but expects to be back in his office in a month or two.

Van Fol Mike wins at Oak Downs

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. —
Winning in Oak Downs largest field of the season and on the longest program (20 races) was no easy task for Van Fol Mike.

Owned by James Watson of Bay St. Louis, Van Fol Mike had to wait out a foul claim Sunday before being declared winner of the 300-yard 12th race which had a full gate of six horses.

The winner, ridden by Joey Schwankhart (Oak Downs leading jockey), was clocked in a top Class A time of 16.22 seconds.

Turf Scorchers (16.28), owned by Hayward Necaise and trained by Charles Necaise of Hancock County, ran second but was placed third by the judges as the result of a foul claim. Tonto Golden Bars (16.32) was moved up to second place.

Two weeks ago Van Fol
Mike won the feature race at Oak Downs against two top campaigners, Senior Bandito and The Fighting Kid. He proved that earlier win was no fluke by beating all of the others out of the starting gate and holding his lead to the finish line.

Other top performances on the afternoon's program were turned in by Jerry Mc-Williams' My Cico Bar (18.68)
in winning the 350-yard eighth race in a close finish over Paul Gregoire's Evidence (18.69), and Blue Devil Deck with two victories.

Blue Devil Deck, owned by Howard Summers, captured the 400-yard 13th with a head victory over Luke The Drifter.
The winner was timed in a Class A rating of 22.21 while Luke The Drifter finished at 23.23.

Blue Devil Deck came back in the 20th and final race of the day to easily defeat Elmo
